Cotton is a 100% bio-degradable fabric. Cotton Sheeting for Bag comes in a natural cream colour. This can be dyed using azo free dyes and is available from grades of 90gsm (3oz) upto 180gsm(6oz). Heavier cotton is known as Canvas. Cotton Bags are suitable for screen, process, transfer printing and embroidery. As the bags are light weight, these can be shipped efficiently with minimal carbon foot-print. Our Cotton Bags come with interlock stitching and double stitched handles. We can make pantone matched cotton bags customized for size and design.

Jute Bags

Jute bags are made from the fibers of plants. These natural fibers are referred to as hessian. Jute is a tough and durable fabric with a royal appearance. Jute bags have become increasingly popular in recent years as green alternatives to plastic carrier bags. Jute has been produced in Bengal (India) for centuries. In the 1970s, the practice of weaving jute for items such as bags had largely reduced due to the appearance of synthetic fibers. Jute has once again found favor with more environmentally responsible practices. Many stores are attempting to phase out the usage of plastic bags for carrying groceries and other essentials. Logos printed on jute bags are an effective form of advertising for companies concerned about portraying a positive environmental message. The enduring nature of jute means that bags may be repeatedly used over extended periods.

Juco Bags

Juco is a hybrid fabric made from the combination of jute and cotton (approx. 75:25). Juco fabric has the toughness of jute. It is not fibery to feel like jute and a lot smoother. It comes in beige shades in its natural form. This can be dyed and printed on just like cotton. This is increasingly finding application in high end bags and promotional products.

Juco can be laminated and dyed. This can also be lined with thin cotton/nonwoven PP.

Nonwoven PP Bags

Nonwoven polypropylene is not woven, but consists of a mesh of plastic fibers that form a strong, reusable material. Items made from nonwoven polypropylene can be used many times and the material itself is recyclable at certain facilities. Nonwoven polypropylene has become very widely used in recent years. It is cheap, durable, extremely lightweight. Nonwoven PP is used to make budget promotional tote bags.
